AVENUES FOR STUDENT FEEDBACK

Effective feedback is:
- Timely
- Thoughtful
- Actionable

How do I provide effective feedback?
Select the topic you are interested in providing feedback for and examine the potential avenues.

Student life
- Student Quality of Life Surveys (launching in 2018)
  - Student town hall meetings
  - Student representation to the School's Admissions, Assessment & Evaluation (AEC), Educational Policy (EPC), and Academic Standards committees
  - Student/School administration leadership meetings

Policy/Leadership
- Student town hall meetings
- Student representation to the School's Admissions, Assessment & Evaluation (AEC), Educational Policy (EPC), and Academic Standards committees
- Student/School administration leadership meetings

Teaching/content
- Didactic
  - Student evaluations of teaching (for lecturers and facilitators)
  - Student evaluations of courses (for course administration/classroom-based learning environment)
- Experiential
  - Student evaluations of preceptors
  - Student evaluations of experiential practice sites (I/APPES only)
  - P4 APPE Program Survey

Co-curriculum
- Student feedback for co-curriculum (via CLE or Qualtrics form)
- Student feedback for co-curriculum (via CLE or Qualtrics form)

Post-graduation
- UCSF (AACP) Graduating Student Survey
- UCSF Graduate Placement Survey
- UCSF (AACP) Alumni Survey

Tips to improve your feedback:
- Focus feedback on the needs of the recipient, not the provider
- Focus feedback on the behavior, not the person
- Be as specific as possible with both reinforcing ("positive") and corrective ("critical") feedback

Created by OEIS. Revised 9.19.17.